THE LOSS OF THE TEUTON.

The Cape Times publishes some narratives of survivors at the wreck of the Teuton. One of these, Mr. Kroom, said:

"We left Table Bay with a southeast wind shortly after 10 o'clock on Tuesday morning. Nothing occured worth mentioning until we came off Quoin Point. The evening was beautifully fine. The moon was overhead, the stars shining, and there was not the slightest sign of fog or vapor. We could make out the land line perfectly, and could see even the sandy shore, which appeared to me to be more than a mile distant. Suddenly the ship struck without any warning whatever. I do not know who the officer was on watch. It was not the chief officer, for he was sitting with me at table. We were just finishing dinner and were sipping coffee. The captain had a cup of coffee in his hand, and it was shaken out of his hold, so violent was the concussion. The whole table was swept of glass and dinner ware. After striking the vessel shivered like an aspen leaf, and heeled over to port. There was some little confusion; the women shrieked, and there was a general rush on deck. The pumps were immediately sounded, and it was found that the fore compartment was leaking. The order kept on deck was admirable. The boats were slung outboard, and they were all ready provisioned with biscuit and water within half an hour of the ship striking. The passengers were all ordered on the poop, and were told to sit quietly until they were told off to their respective boats. The doctor was in charge of the passengers on the poop. All this time the ship was settling down by the head gradually. Volunteers were called for from among the passengers for the pumps and they assisted freely.

"After striking the ship's head was put round to the westward, evidently with the hope of reaching Simon's Bay. There was a light southeast wind, with a little sea on. It was between a quarter past and half past seven when the ship struck, and up till half past ten the vessel kept on her way, and everything was orderly on board. At half past ten the ship's head was so down that her stern was out of water and the screw was of little use. The captain now gave orders for the starboard waist lifeboat to be lowered and the women and children to be put in, which was done, the boat being lowered and the women and children handed into it. The ship was then hardly moving, for her propeller was out of water and was no longer of any use to her. The engines were stopped and steam was gradually being blown off. The starboard quarter boat, which had already been lowered, was ordered alongside to receive passengers, and that was the first time I heard Captain Manning's voice. He said, 'Why don't you hurry up and get the boat alongside?' He had no sooner the words out of his mouth when the ship gave a dip and in less than a minute she appeared to make a somersault. I, seeing this, made a jump overboard at her port quarter. I could not swim, but I was fearful of being carried down by the suction and I hoped to be picked up by the port quarter boat, which had been lowered some while. I struggled about and at last came across a teakwood casing used on the deck. I tried to get on to it, but it kept revolving, and it twice threw me away from it. I at last however, got a good grip of it, and must, I should think, have held on to it from twenty minutes to half an hour. Then I saw at a short distance one of the boats showing a light. My cries for help brought them to me in about five minutes, and I was taken into the carpenter's boat. We succeeded in taking three men from a boat which was bottom upward. The other boat came alongside us, and we divided passengers, and rowed about and picked up, I think, five people. We heard few cries. The bulk of the passengers were on the poop, and when the ship went over, head down, they must have been precipitated into the water, and have gone down in the suction. She went down like a streak of lightning. I would not have believed it possible that a vessel could go down so suddenly. There was a loud crashing of timber, an escape of steam, a wild rush of water, and the Teuton was out of sight. We only saw some wreck go floating about. I fear, indeed I am almost certain, that the boat with the women and children in it was fastened by a rope to the vessel or did not clear out of the vortex. The moonlight enabled us to see everything distinctly. We could not see anything of the boat with the women. We heard no cries, and, after pulling around the spot for half an hour, the course of the two boats was made for Simon's Bay, steering for the Cape of Good Hope. The boat's crew pulled all night. The men were most orderly and well-behaved, and did everything they could. Sail was got on the boat at daybreak. There was then a fresh breeze and an ugly sea, which compelled us to keep baling. We had a double-reefed sail during the forenoon, but as the wind freshened the reef was taken in, and even then we found she had as much as she could carry. We got up to Cape Point, and were about five miles off from it, at between, I should say, eleven and twelve. We overran ten or twelve miles in mistaking the entrance to Simon's Bay, and but for this we should have been earlier in than we were. The carpenter's boat, which was a better sailer than ours, and had a direct run to the bay, arrived there first, in fact, she ran out of our sight altogether. There were crowds of people on the wharf as we came up to it, and the greatest kindness was shown to us all. We had to be lifted out of the boats, for we were so cramped with sitting and with cold that we could not move."

RETIRED FOR THREE YEARS.

General George Boulanger, of the French delegation, awakened in his room at the Continental Hotel, Philadelphia, early Friday morning, in time to see a man gathering up his notes and watch and chain from a table in the apartment. Seeing he was discovered, the fellow muttered something about having gotten into the wrong room and attempted to leave. The General jumped from his couch, seized his sword, and after calling to his assistance Count Lichtenstein, who occupied an adjoining apartment, they rushed on the intruder and captured him. They again demanded his business in the room, and on being informed that it was none of their business, they summoned a patrolman, and the man was taken to the station house, where he gave his name as William Marsden. He was arraigned at Police Court headquarters a few hours afterward, and when called up in the dock was identified as "Old Bill Connelly," alias Buffalo Bill, who has, in police parlance, "done time" in nearly every State prison in the country for hotel robberies, at which he is an expert. The Magistrate placed him under $1,000 bail to answer at court, and a half hour later the Grand Jury had found a true bill against him. He was then taken into the old Court house and convicted. Judge Allison, in passing sentence upon him, stated that he regretted the law did not permit him to impose such a sentence as would endure for his life-time, for his had been a life of crime, and the theory of his previous punishments which the law looked to, had failed in one respect, that of the reformation of the prisoner, and it was his duty as a Judge then to consider only the other theory of the protection of society against criminals. He then sentenced him to three years in the County Prison, and to give good security to keep the peace and be of good behavior for a year after the expiration of the sentence.

STATE NEWS.

Androscoggin.

The Journal says that a splendid silk banner has been purchased at a cost exceeding $100, and will be presented with a speech by Mayor Ludden, in behalf of the citizens of Lewiston, to the Lewiston Artillery on Thanksgiving eve.

Aroostook.

Mrs. Merriman, of Island Falls was thrown from her carriage in Sherman, as she was starting for home, striking on her shoulders and breaking her collar bone.

Cumberland.

The Press reports business active in Portland. Many new partnerships have been formed. Rents are active. The grocers and dry goods dealers are doing a good business.

The News says that the breaking away of Songo Lock and the consequent suspension of navigation for the season is very unfortunate, and will subject our business men to considerable additional trouble and expense. There is yet a large amount of freight to be carried, most of which must be teamed to and from Brownfield. Mr. Dawes of Harrison, had a large amount of corn at the lake station, with his boat below the lock. He must either reship to Norway or team from Brownfield.

Albert Kimball and Marshall Jordan have bought very nearly two thousand cords of timber, which is to be converted into staves and spool strips during the coming winter. Mr. K. has been doing an extensive business at manufacturing shooks at Norway during the past year, and has had several men in his employ.

Franklin.

The Phonograph says that the reputation of the Rangeley Lakes for large trout has been maintained the past season. Several have been taken of six and seven, and one of eight pounds. The early fishing was all that could be desired, but for some reason midsummer yielded the poorest results ever known by the oldest habitues. This refers to the big lakes. At Kennebago and Seven Ponds the sport has been all that could be desired. Several loons have been shot during the season, but there number is not sensibly diminished. It is somewhere stated that a loon consumes its weight of fish daily.

Kennebec.

The Journal says, Dredging operations have been begun in the channel of the Kennebec at Hatch's rocks, about a mile below Richmond village.

Knox.

The Rockland Gazette says that the expense of the prosecution and trial of the boys Richards and Gross for the murder of Willie Cain, is less than $4,000.

The Opinion says that Mrs. Margaret A. Crandon died at Thomaston last week from the effects of a criminal abortion.

Oxford.

The News says that at Jones' corn factory, Hiram, three thousand bushels of apples have been engaged, also large quantities of pumpkins. Some sixty five persons are employed. Four dollars are paid weekly for wages for women, and $1 00 to $1 25 per day for men.

Sagadahoc.

The Times says that Llewellyn Adams in employ in the saw mill of Reuben S. Hunt at Winnegance, received severe burns about the face and eyes Friday forenoon. The mould in which the hot metal was poured is supposed to have been too damp, causing the metal to be thrown upward into the unfortunate man's face. His eyes were severely burned, and it is feared that he may lose his eyesight.

York.

The Press says that the Saco Water Power Company have had 5,000 spindle pins stolen from their building in Saco, in two packages, one of 4,000 and the other of 1,000. These pins are of brass, and valued at $200.

THE ISTHMUS QUESTION.

ooking at the Isthmus question from · point of view of British interests, the ondon Times fails to see why there should any repugnance upon the part of the vernment of the United States to allow England or France to join in a guaran- of the neutrality of the Panama canal. England is to have no locus standi in the atter and only the United States and lombia are to act as guarantors, the mes apprehends that American statesmen ay in some future contingency claim the ght to tear up the treaty they have made, d suspend the neutrality of the canal. is is not an unfair way of putting the se, but the argument strengthens instead of weakens the position taken in Mr. laine's letter. It is true that treaties can abrogated as easily as made, and that a arantee cannot be expected to last longthan it is for the benefit of the Nations king it to keep it in force. But for this reason the United States must insist, view of its paramount interests upon th coasts of this continent, that the canal guarantee shall be an American contract ot liable to be set aside or infringed at e pleasure of any European power. We nnot consent to England or France beming parties to the contract because they aintain powerful fleets and armies which cannot rival in time of peace without ing violence to our ideas of public policy d our views of the true functions of a e Republican Government. In case of threatened war, under plea of securing e neutrality guarantee, it would be easy r either of those nations to lay hands non the entrances to the canal and conrt the work into a powerful weapon to be ned against us.

o narrow the argument down, let us agine a quarrel to arise between England d the United States of such a character to make the arbitrament of war the ost probable result. Is it to be supposed at, with a powerful fleet in the West Indies and another in the Pacific, England would hesitate to put herself in a position seize the canal mouths at the first outeak of hostilities, if, indeed, she did not rlier do so as a precautionary measure? ould her participation in a guarantee aty restrain her when her interests as a ation were in peril? It will, perhaps, be ged in reply, that England could do the me thing if she were excluded from the rantee compact. Certainly she could, we took no measures to guard against e power of her formidable navy. But r. Blaine's letter is explicit upon this y point. It says: "The United States of America will insist upon her right to ake all needful precautions against the ossibility of the Isthmus transit being any event used offensively against her terests upon the land or upon the sea." The meaning of this is not in the least cure. Needful precautions may signify erection of fortifications and the estabment of naval stations at the entrances the canal, with the assent and co-operaion of Colombia. Mr. Blaine evidently ans to give notice that this Government y, on the completion of the canal, deem prudent to secure its neutrality by more ficient methods than a paper guarantee, d that if it should see fit to take such a p the assent of European powers would t be asked.

Joint guarantee with England and ance, or either of them, would cause us lose all the advantage in the political ntrol of the canal which our position as e foremost nation on the American connent, and the magnitude of our possesons upon both oceans, gives us the right to claim. For this reason we decline such an alliance. Standing upon the treaty of 846, Mr. Blaine maintains that the United ates and Colombia having agreed to a at guarantee of any canal to be opened rough the Panama Isthmus, we are justid in rejecting the demand of any other Nation to be admitted as a party to a conct which this Government had the foret to make thirty-five years ago. The y plea made by the Times on behalf of gland to be associated in the guarantee hich has any weight is that of her ownerip of territory fronting upon the Pacific. t British Columbia, the territory in estion, has a population of only 40,000 uls, and shows small capacity for growth. er evident destiny is to be associated with r prosperous Pacific States, and her lonial dependence upon England, temrary as it is regarded by her own people, a circumstance which does not weaken our claim to a securely dominant influence in the political control of the canal. Our right to such a control is asserted because we regard it as vital to our future safety, just as Great Britain asserts her right to prevent the Suez Canal from falling into he hands of a Power capable of closing highway to her Asiatic Empire.

THE NEW SECRETARY.

[Thurlow Weed in the Tribune.]

n the appointment of Judge Folger, a epublican universally esteemed, and a entleman equally deserving and acceptle, the chasm has been happily bridged ver. The Republican party is now, hanks to the President, cordially united in the support of his Administration. The anvass ought, and it is to be hoped will o now, actively and zealously pressed during the few days that remain.

In the appointment of a lawyer and a judge to be Secretary of the Treasury, the President places himself in the "line of safe precedents." Alexander Hamilton, the first Secretary of the Treasury, was an eminent lawyer. Among his most distinguished successors were Oliver Wolcott, Samuel Dexter, Albert Gallatin, Alexander J. Dallas, Richard Rush, Louis McLane, Roger B. Taney, Levi Woodbury, Thomas Ewing, Robert J. Walker, William M. Meredith, Thomas Corwin, James Guthrie, Salmon P. Chase, William Pitt Fessenden, Hugh McCulloch, George S. Boutwell, B. F. Bristow and John Sherman, all lawyers and many of them Judges.

The Boston Transcript asserts that in one of the Sophomore societies of Harvard College the initiatory proceedings, which continue during several days, wind up with the branding of the victim on the arm in four places with a red-hot iron; that the custom has been in vogue for some time; that the branding is no slight affair, the students some times fainting under the infliction; and many students whose arms have been thus disfigured, instead of being ashamed of the folly, actually take pride in showing the scars.

POSTAL DEPARTMENT.

DETAILS OF LOST AND RIFLED LETTERS AND PACKAGES.

Colonel Parker, Chief of Post-office Inspectors, has submitted to the Postmaster General a report of the operations of his division for the fiscal year ended June 30, 1881. From this report the following statistics are extracted: 401 persons were arrested during the year for depredations upon the United States mails; of these 188 were convicted and 177 await trial; the remainder were otherwise disposed of. Registered letters reported lost, 3335; of these 1307 contained money; 1398 were recovered and delivered; 387 letters were reported rifled of their contents; of these 100 cases showed claims of enclosure to be false; 13 registered letters were reported as being tampered with; in 5 cases no loss has been proved; the other 8 are still being investigated. Of 387 registered packets reported lost 268 were recovered, 56 were reported rifled; of these 44 reports were found to be false. The disbursements of moneys collected and recovered in cases of lost and rifled registered letters and packets in 587 cases amounted to $13,657.79. Of the 4636 registered letters and packages reported lost, rifled or tampered with, 2575 were recovered or satisfactorily accounted for; the others are still under investigation or classed as hopeless by reason of, fire, highway robberies, or ordinary theft. Thus 2061 out of the entire number—8,300,-000—of registered letters and packages only were lost, giving proof of the security of the registered mails. Of 16,562 ordinary letters reported lost 12,108 contained valuable enclosures; 1737 of these are reported as delivered. Ordinary packets reported lost 6368, of which 451 were found to have been delivered. Money recovered in cases of ordinary letters in 77 cases amounted to $701.23. Of the 135 complaints of depredations by postmasters 19 were found to be groundless. The amount of money collected in this class of cases by Inspectors was $22,701.71, of which amount $20,-157.06 was from delinquent postmasters.

NO, YOU NEED NOT "WORRY."

[From the Boston Herald.]

Mr. Blaine's "vigorous foreign policy," as manifested in several directions, will make him a hard man to follow in the State Department in the minds of those who admire dash, decision and self-assertiveness in the management of our foreign affairs. The manner in which he has made himself felt in that office, and has admirable bearing under all the trying circumstances from the terrible second of July to the present time have unquestionably strengthened his hold on the party and raised him in the estimation of the country. The question, What is to be done with Blaine? will be a very interesting one as time goes on. He will be a rather formidable personage for the President to turn loose; and outside of the State Department, it cannot be learned that there is anything he wants. His projected Southern tour does not look as though he had determined to retire from politics. But there is no occasion for worry. The gentleman from Maine always had the faculty of taking care of himself.

HONORS FOR THE EDISON LIGHT.

Edison has received a cable from Paris informing him that he had been voted by the juries of the Electrical Exposition in Paris five gold medals, and that the General Congress of the Exposition had given him the additional and exclusive honor of a Diploma of Honor, being the highest award given. The second grade honors—gold medals—were also awarded to Edison, and to the Maxim, Swan, and Fox incandescent electric lights. Swan, the proprietor of the Swan incandescent light, sent to Edison from Paris the following cable: "You have received the highest award the juries had to give. I congratulate you." Professor Barker, of the University of Pennsylvania, Philadelphia, who has been in Paris throughout the Exposition, has sent the following cable to Mr. Edison: "Accept my congratulations. You have distanced all competitors and obtained a Diploma of Honor, the highest award given in the exhibition. No person in any class in which you were an exhibitor received a like award."

THE BALLOONISTS' ADVENTURES.

Professor King the aeronaut, returned home last night. The story he tells of adventure by land and water would fill volumes. They were nineteen hours in the air! Their highest altitude was 9,600 feet. Friday afternoon, two weeks ago, at two o'clock, they landed in the much-talked-of swamp on the Flambeau River. They knew no more where they were than if they had landed in the wildest region of undiscovered Africa. One sandwich was all that was left them when they touched ground. Human habitation was nowhere in sight. Desolation was everywhere. The roaring rapid river they at first took for the Mississippi. No boats, no signs to show that human being had ever been there, only intensified their dreadful feeling of loneliness. Once landed, their adventures began in earnest. From Friday until Tuesday their experience was one of continuous tramping about or floating over lakes on rude rafts and finding themselves perpetually walled in. There seemed to be no outlet. A porcupine which they killed was their diet for five days. On the fifth day, Tuesday, they came to an old overgrown trail. Following it for hours they finally heard the tinkling of a cow-bell. They left the road and went in the direction whence it came, and finally found themselves again at the river. The cow was on the other side. The sight of a rude cabin cheered them. Two men in a boat were finally sighted and rowed them across. Here they found their Moses in the person of Bruno Vinette, a wealthy backwoodsman, farmer and logger, who, with ten men, accompanied them up the river in a batteau to the place where their balloon was. Except a few punctures from trees and some rents in the netting it was uninjured. It was taken apart and put in the basket and the whole raised from the ground and placed on poles and left there. The netting was hung upon ropes reaching from tree to tree far above ground. There they will be left till mid winter, when snow and ice will enable them to be gotten away. It was seventy-five miles from the balloon to Chippewa Falls and civilization, which the travellers reached through the aid of Vinette on last Friday, as previously recorded.—Philadelphia Times October 27.

For some reason the Star Route defendants are manifesting a very bold defiance and are loudly declaring that Attorney-General MacVeagh is backing out of his office because he has no confidence in the strength of his cases. The Boston Journal's Washington special says ex-Asst. Postmaster-General Brady boasts that he will show that every extension of the postal service was made at the request of Congressmen, army officers, Cabinet officers, Governors of States and Territories and other prominent men. And he and Dorsey threaten that if they are not convicted they will commence suit against Postmaster-General James, Wayne MacVeagh and others for defamation of character. How much of this is mere bluster we cannot tell, but the boldness of the accused is just now as apparent as the reluctance of Mr. MacVeagh is conspicuous. His plain public duty and regard for his own reputation alike demand that he remain at his post and make good the prosecutions he has instituted.

The precision of modern engineering is forcibly illustrated by the recently accomplished feat of picking up a long unused ocean cable from a depth of 2000 fathoms. To find such a thread two miles under the sea is a great achievement.

Some 44,000 tons of produce were lost at sea, during the recent great gale on the British coast. Almost half of it consisted of coal. Colliers were heavy sufferers from the storm. Much petroleum was lost in Germany, and some in England.

The price of diamonds has risen about 25 per cent. within the last three or four weeks, in consequence of the purchase of the great Kimberley mine, in South African diamond field, by a company of English capitalists, who intend to hold its products for an advance in values.

A sensation of Broadway, New York, on Thursday, was a team with a dead driver. A truck horse was noticed trotting along as though he were pretty much his own master, despite the fact that he was apparently guided by the truckman, who held the reins. Presently it was perceived that the driver was dead, and some one stopping the horse the driver tottered and fell.

Seven years ago Gen. Garfield wrote in a young clerk's autograph album in Washington: "It is strange to think that a little book like this will outlive all those whose names may be written in it. In this the book is a symbol of friendship which can survive the chances and changes of life, and even life itself. I take pleasure in testifying to my friendship for you, and in expressing the hope that you may be as happy in life as you deserve to be, and this is saying a great deal."

Introducing English Turbot and Sole. By the steamer Parthia which arrived Wednesday at New York, Professor Baird's assistants received six live turbot and three soles, being all the survivors of 75 soles and 35 turbot caught in the Irish Channel and put in a tank on board the steamer. The surviving nine strangers were taken on a Revenue Cutter at once to the place that had been designated off Coney Island, about three quarters of a mile from the entrance to Sheepshead Bay, as the best locality for the fish. They were put overboard from a boat in about 12 feet of water and did not seem to hesitate for an instant, but with a rapid movement and in the liveliest way made at once for the bottom. The sole is longer as to width than our flounder, with shorter fins. The turbot is much broader for a flat fish than any caught in our waters. Both are highly prized for food in England and their fecundity is great, it being estimated that a turbot may have over 14,000,000 eggs. Though fish culturists may be hopeful that those few fish which were placed in our waters may thrive, they are by no means sanguine. It is hardly possible that a dozen fish placed in a single locality, with hundreds of miles of water around them, will remain in the same position. Even should they grow, it has not been satisfactorily determined whether these fish were of different sexes. But what this experiment has shown, even if nothing is ever heard of these fish, is that they can be transported.

Henry J. Gully, one of the assassins of the Chisolm family, is running as a Democratic candidate for the Legislature in Mississippi.

Commenting on Secretary Blaine's note in regard to the Panama Canal, the Boston Traveller says:

"It is not the Monroe doctrine any more than it is the Jefferson, the Adams, the Webster, the Cass or the Seward doctrine. Just at this moment it is the Blaine doctrine. When Congress meets and the President's Message is read it will be found, we doubt not, to be the Arthur doctrine. England may as well accept it as a fixed fact that it is the doctrine of this country, which, like the laws of the Medes and Persians altereth not."

The total registration in New York City is 170,419, against 167,837 in 1879 and 210,-074 in 1880. The fourth day's record was much lighter than that of the previous day, a falling off of 11,197, being due in part to unpleasant weather. The total registration is large for an "off" year and insures a vigorous contest at the polls.

ST. GEORGE, August, 1876.

DR. J. STEVENS, Rockland:

Dear Sir,—We are most happy to inform you that our daughter, whose case was so long considered hopeless, is as we believe, entirely cured. From childhood, to the age of eleven years, the time when you took her case in charge, she had been sickly, gradually growing worse, until at the time you were called to attend her, she could hardly bear to be removed to the city, where constant care could be exercised by her physician. Many who knew her condition at that time remarked, that she never would return. You pronounced her sickness "Bright's Disease." For seven weeks with most assiduous care and constant study of her symptoms, you attended her daily. Her case pronounced hopeless by consulting physicians, scarcely daring to hope for her recovery, we saw her gradually improving, until she was restored to us, like one returned from the grave. Next to Him who giveth life, our gratitude is due to you. We wish we were competent to express our opinion of the rare skill, the patient study, and perseverance which crowned your efforts with success. We feel assured, however, that the satisfaction you will feel in such marked success in your profession, will reward you.

ANOTHER "CRANK."

He Wants to See the President's Accounts.

OVERPOWERED AFTER A DESPERATE STRUGGLE.

WASHINGTON Oct 31 A well dressed powerfully built man appeared at the White House this afternoon and demanded to see the accounts of the President. Dinsmore the doorkeeper on duty recognized the visitor as a "crank" who had been there in May and was sent home to friends in Pennsylvania. With a view of delivering him to the custody of the police he suggested that the accounts could be seen down street and that he would accompany him. The man who gave the name of John Walling of Pennsylvania presented a letter which he insisted entitled him to enter the Mansion and then endeavored to force his way in. Dinsmore seized him and a desperate struggle ensued. Walling attempted to draw a revolver, but Dinsmore who had grasped him by the throat choked him so vigorously that he was unable to use it. Sergeant Crump and another employe hurried to Dinsmore's assistance and the lunatic was with some difficulty overpowered and the revolver taken from him. It was a large sized seven shooter with every barrel loaded. The police were notified and Walling or Doctor Noetling was taken to the station and locked up. The letter he presented read as follows:

John Walling—

You are hereby informed that Dr. John Walling is lawfully elected President of the United States and occupies the White House every day.

The French Guests

NEWPORT Oct 31 The weather was fitfully stormy this morning for the French visitors but before the ceremonies at the State House it partially cleared. Governor Littlefield and the members of the staff arrived from Providence by a special steamer at twelve o'clock and were met by the artillery company and escorted to the headquarters of the French legation at Hartmann's. The French legation was then escorted to the State House, where interesting exercises took place. The Representative chamber in which the exercises took place was tastefully decorated with French and American flags. The visitors were welcomed by Hiram L Sheffield chairman of the State Committee. The visitors were then presented to Gov Littlefield, who also delivered a brief address of welcome. Mr Outrey the French Minister replied for the delegation in an appropriate speech. A [illegible] followed a brief reception after which the guests were taken to the Torpedo Station in a steam launch and were received by a grand torpedo salute. After showing the visitors all that there was to be seen at the station the guests partook of a lunch. The United States training ships Saratoga and Portsmouth return from Yorktown to-night. Capt Luce in charge of the training squadron tendered the band of the [illegible] for use at the dinner given to the French guests to-night.

SALT LAKE CITY, Oct. 31. The suit brought by Campbell to annul Cannon's pretended certificate of naturalization was decided to-day by Chief Justice Hunter. Thus the court in which Cannon pretended to have been naturalized 25 years ago, decides that he is an alien and therefore that Governor Murray was right in refusing to certify that he had been duly elected to Congress.

AN IMMENSE DEFALCATION.

OVER $2,000,000 MISUSED

BY A BANK CASHIER

The Doors of The Bank Closed

AND THE DEFAULTER ARRESTED.

NEWARK Oct 31 The following appeared on the doors of the Mechanics' National Bank this morning: "Closed in consequence of statements affecting the bank made by the cashier to the directors, yesterday which are now undergoing investigation." The bank was regarded as the strongest in Newark, the stock standing at 180.

A Defaulter to the Amount of $2 000,000

WASHINGTON Oct 31 A private telegram reports the Mechanics' National Bank, of Newark N J, failed. The cashier is a defaulter to the amount of $2 000 000.

A Commotion in Bank Circles

NEW YORK Oct 31. The suspension of the Mechanics National Bank, of Newark caused some commotion in banking circles to-day. It was the largest bank in New Jersey and one of the most influential. Its capital was $500 000 and its surplus $400 000. The bank had an excellent credit and some of its managers are identified with the management of other important corporations like the Mutual Benefit Life Insurance Co, of Newark, and the principal Savings Banks there. Cashier Baldwin was an active executive officer of the bank. It is said that yesterday he called the directors together and confessed to them that all that was left of the resources of the bank was its building, which is worth about $50 000. The New York correspondent of the bank was the Mechanics National Bank of New York.

The Cashier Makes a Statement to the Directors

NEW YORK Oct 31 A Newark despatch says at a meeting of the directors of the Mechanics National Bank, held yesterday afternoon cashier O L Baldwin stated to them that the bank was not in a condition to pay, and that the liabilities were so great that further attempts to carry on business would be useless. The directors then offered to subscribe $500,000 to put the bank in condition for business but the cashier responded that $2 000 000 would not do it. The directors then decided to suspend at once. The following are the directors: Stephen H Condict, Lewis C Grover, William Clark, Henry C Howell, Oscar L Baldwin, Geo A Halsey, James F Bond, Joseph A Halsey, Joseph Hensler, Joseph N Halsey, President and Oscar L Baldwin, Cashier. The last named officer was a director. The news came like a thunderclap on the community. There was not a suspicion that the institution was not the strongest in Newark. The directors have been considered the most trustworthy body of men in the city and the reputation of Baldwin as a financier probably stood first in the State. No official facts have been made known beyond the arrest of Baldwin on a charge of embezzlement and the sending for the Government Examiners.

The Cashier Arrested

NEWARK Oct 31 The National Mechanics Bank closed this morning and Cashier Baldwin was arrested by a U S Marshal on the affidavit of a Director who charged him with confessing to the Board yesterday that he had fraudulently misused over two million dollars of its funds and the bank is thereby ruined. The Directors are in session with closed doors and the wildest rumors are afloat which it is impossible to verify. No suspicion is yet felt toward any other than the cashier, who had the unlimited confidence of the President and Directors, who are among our most prominent capitalists. The chief management was left to him. The President Jos A Halsey, a retired capitalist has been confined to his home a long time through the infirmities of age and unable to visit the bank. Among the liabilities $2 117 000 were individual deposits subject to check. The cashier fearing a visit from the National Examiner, called the Directors together yesterday and confessed the sad condition. The city and county had about $10 000 each on deposit. The Charter Board $15 000 and manufacturing companies smaller amounts, preparatory to the November dividends. C Nugent & Co, large morocco makers, who were sustained by the bank, have made an assignment.

Baldwin's Statement—A Business House Implicated in the Transaction

NEWARK Oct 30 Cashier Baldwin of the Mechanics Bank, was waited upon this afternoon at his house by the United States District Attorney and Commissioner Keasby and was admitted to bail in $25,000 to appear at court November 7th.

Baldwin said voluntarily that about the year 1873 he began to make loans to C Nugent & Co, without security and without the sanction of the Directors. Having begun he was in the power of Nugent & Co, and continued these accommodations, sometimes loaning them $50,000 in one month until the total increased to a ruinous amount. Nugent assured him he had a large property and capital in his business which would make all loans good. Nugent was aware that he (Baldwin) was using the bank's money and always promised to surrender his property in case of any trouble. Under these circumstances the loan was increased till it reached over $2,000 000.

Nugent would give drafts on friends in New York which would be credited to him as cash and Baldwin would use the bank's money to take up the drafts when due. The books were falsified to indicate that the accounts were correct. Finally, however the losses were placed in account of the Mechanics' Bank in New York, so that while it appeared that the Newark Bank had a claim for $2 000,000 against the New York bank in truth the Newark owes the New York bank $2,000,000.

This difference is almost wholly due to the irregular transactions with Nugent. He said he had speculated very little and lost nothing in that way. Nugent can be held liable for his part in the transactions. The rumor that Nugent made an assignment to-day was premature. The accounts are involved with the banks and await further developments.

Nugent Arrested

Christopher Nugent the morocco manufacturer, was arrested on the charge of aiding and abetting Cashier Baldwin in embezzling the funds of the Mechanics' National Bank. He gave $25,000 bail.

Further Particulars.

Baldwin has been connected with the bank from a boy and has been cashier since about the beginning of the war and had a salary of $7000. For several years Mr Baldwin has been engaged in speculation in Wall Street and it is believed the misfortunes of the bank are due to this fact. That there have been other causes for the failure is known in addition to the speculation but the bulk of money has undoubtedly been sunk in the New York stock market.

A number of dividends payable at the bank are said to have been declared by various companies and the money was deposited to meet them. They are of course non payable. The last semi annual dividend of the bank was for 7 per cent. The stockholders of the bank are liable for the full amount of holdings, that is to say each stockholder for $100 must pay $100 beside losing the value of his stock. The Government's Bank Examiner arrived at the bank this morning. So far as known no other institution was affected to any extent. The effect upon the business community is not yet shown but it will undoubtedly be developed to-morrow.

The actual loss, it is believed, will reach $2,100 000. Nugent states the amount discounted by the bank for his firm is only about $1,000,000. It is estimated the depositors will not get over 50 cents on the dollar. Yesterday forenoon was the earliest period when any of the officers had any intimation that the affairs of the bank were wrong. The first intimation was given by Baldwin.

General News.

Resignation of Col. Cowie.

WASHINGTON, Oct, 31. Col. Cowie Chief Diplomatic and Consular Division 5th Auditor's office, Treasury Department, has resigned. Cowie recently passed a claim for $2 500 which is pronounced illegal by the first Comptroller. It is said that the claim was endorsed by a State Department officer, but this endorsement is not thought to be sufficient to warrant its passage and as Cowie was a responsible person his resignation was requested.

The Naval Department.

Secretary Hunt calls the attention of the naval officers to the rule against employing influential friends to endorse their applications for assignment to duty, as the Secretary is supposed to be the best judge of what duty an officer is entitled. All applications under such endorsements will not be attended to. The particular attention of the officers of Essex and Brooklyn is called to this order.

The Star Route Cases

In the Criminal Court of the district this morning, application was made by the counsel for the defence in the Star Route cases to have a day fixed for argument of the motion to set aside criminal information.

The District Attorney declined in the absence of Messrs Cook and Bliss who have charge of the case for the government, to agree upon any day, but Judge Cox said that these gentlemen could be reached by telegraph, and that he would assign next Tuesday for the argument to begin, subject to a change of time, if that day should not meet the convenience of the counsel.

Notes

As soon as Mr Strathan qualifies for the position which it is expected he will do in a few days his commission will be signed by the President and forwarded to him.

Effect of the Pastoral Letter.

DUBLIN, Oct 31 The pastoral letter of Archbishop McCabe was read in all the Catholic churches of Dublin diocese Sunday and created considerable sensation. Passages from the pastoral were printed last night and demonstrations against it are to be made at once.

At the pro-cathedral Marlboro street, a hundred and fifty young men rose at the moment when the priest made his references to the League and drowned the speaker's voice in the noisy demonstrations which they made in leaving.

At Arran Quay chapel similar incidents occurred and in other chapels dissenting noises and gestures were made.

THE BANGOR SAVINGS BANK. This old and reliable banking institution possesses a financial history of more than ordinary interest. By able management the bank lived through the long period of depression and is now enjoying a well-earned prosperity. Taking large amounts of currency as deposits when gold was at a high premium it is able to day to pay dollar for dollar. Its present surplus above all liabilities is $104 580 51.

ANNUAL BALL OF UNION HOSE CO. The annual ball of the Union Hose Company will be given on Thanksgiving night, at Music Hall. The music will be furnished by Andrews' orchestra. We understand that a sufficient number of tickets have already been disposed of to insure the success of the affair. A fine medal is to be given to the member of the company who sells the most tickets and the competition is in consequence lively. A large number of tickets have been purchased by our business men, who wish to encourage the "boys."

It is said that Pittsfield is the best paying station on the Maine Central between this city and Waterville. The average sale of tickets is over $3,000 per month and $8 000 worth of freight is shipped in that time. Nearly all the freight from St. Albans and Hartland comes to that station. The tanneries and woolen mills at Hartland, and D H Bartlett of Harmony, are the largest shippers

G A R—Post Beale No 12 of this city is the "banner" post of Maine having the largest membership of any Grand Army organization in the State and it is still growing hardly a week passing without at least two new names being added to the roll. There are still many veterans in this city and vicinity who are eligible and who ought to become members, and as on the first of January next the present mustering in fee of two dollars is to be raised to five, it behooves them to send in their applications without delay.

CORRECTION. We were in error yesterday in stating that the owners of the schooner James A Garfield objected to a certificate from the builders. The facts as we have since learned are that Messrs Oakes & Co, the builders declined to give a certificate whereupon Deputy Collector Dillingham wishing to act advisedly in the matter, wrote to the Secretary of the Treasury, stating the case and asking instructions. In reply the Secretary ordered that the papers be issued on the certificate of the master carpenter Mr Hopkins as before stated

THE WEIGHT OF EGGS. Shall eggs be sold by number or by the pound is the momentous question that is said to be agitating several Parisian scientists. It has been learned that the average weight of twenty eggs laid by fowls of different breeds is two and one-eighth pounds. The breeds that lay the largest eggs, averaging seven to a pound, are Black Spanish, Houdans, La Fleches and Creve Coeurs. Eggs of medium size and weight, averaging eight or nine to the pound, are laid by Leghorns, Cochins, Brahmas, Polands, Dorkings, Games and Sultan. Hamburgs lay about ten eggs to the pound. There is a difference of three eggs in one pound weight. Hence it is claimed that in justice to the consumer eggs should be sold by weight

A FAITHFUL SERVANT. Mr I B Chalmers the truckman has a stallion now twenty-four years old, that he has worked almost constantly for the past ten years. The animal has become a familiar object to our citizens. Of late he has grown lame and feeble and is only used for light work. Mr Chalmers told our reporter yesterday that he should soon pension the old fellow and allow him to spend the rest of his days in quiet peace and plenty. We felt that it was a stigma upon our boasted civilization that there are so few men whose humanity prompts them to care for these noble animals when their days of usefulness are at an end. In the majority of cases their days are terminated by the combined tortures of starvation and the lash. We wish there were more to imitate the example of Mr Chalmers

DEATH IN EXETER. The decease of Mrs Elvonia Stevens, wife of Mr Levi Stevens of Exeter, which occurred last Friday at the age of 65 years, is announced in our mortuary column. In his bereavement Mr Stevens has the sympathy of the community in which both himself and the deceased were highly esteemed. Mr Stevens is now seventy years of age. He was born at Six Mile Falls but has lived in Exeter since he was four years old. His wife now deceased was born in New Hampshire. She came to Exeter when she was but ten years of age and has lived there ever since. They were married some forty six years ago, nine children have been born to them, seven of whom are now living. Mr Stevens is a successful farmer. Both himself and his deceased companion have been active members in the Free Baptist church for many years

THE ENTERTAINMENT AT THE UNIVERSALIST CHURCH. The entertainment in the vestry of the Universalist church last evening was attended by an appreciative audience. Prof Lord's reputation as an elocutionist is established and it is only necessary for us to say that his readings last evening fully met the exalted expectations of his audience. The following were the selections read: "Phil Blood's Leap" by Buchanan. "The Dutchman's Experience—Setting a Hen," Anon. "The Ballad of Arabella," by J T Trowbridge, "Sirly Tim's Trouble," by Fanny Hodgson Burnett, "How Ruby Played," Anon, "Death of the Owd Squire." The closest attention was given to the readings and the applause was generous. An orchestra composed of Geo Cushing pianist, Chas Cushing, violinist and Wm Edwards cornet, furnished excellent music, their selections being very choice and rendered with commendable skill

Resolutions of Respect

READING ROOM,
BANGOR REFORM CLUB
BANGOR Oct 31st, 1881

Whereas It has pleased God to summon to Himself our beloved Chaplain and to bid us to speak earth's last farewell to an honest active and conscientious brother in reform therefore

Resolved That by the death of Bro JESSE L RANDALL this club parts with an esteemed member, the total abstinence army with a true soldier, and the Christian laborer with a shining example of the Saviour's redeeming love

Resolved That while it is fitting to mourn our brother who has been severed by relentless death, it is also fitting to faithfully follow his christian counsel until, through the same Infinite mercy, our broken earthly fold is one again in green pastures and beside the still waters of the Eternal Shepherd

Resolved That this club tender to the bereaved family of Bro Randall that consolation and sympathy which brotherly hearts can impart, and though the earthly separation is now mourned, to that blest reunion by and by, let the mourner look up and be glad.

Resolved, That a copy of these resolves be forwarded to the family of our lamented brother, that they also be published in the daily papers and spread upon the records of this club

NEURALGIA,
Nervous Irritability, Sciatica and all painful Nervous Diseases.—A treatise by a well known physician, a specialist on these subjects, concludes as follows: "Neuralgia is one of the most painful of diseases, and is attended with more or less nervous irritation. Sciatica is also a form of neuralgia and all painful nervous diseases come under that name. Neuralgia means nerve ache, and therefore you can suffer with neuralgia in any part of the body, as the nerves are supplied to every part.
I have for many years closely studied the cause of neuralgia, and the nature of the nervous system, with the many diseases that it is subject to, and have found by actual experience that the true and primary cause of neuralgia is poverty of the nervous fluid—it becomes impoverished and poor, and in some cases starved, not because the patient does not eat but because what is eaten is not appropriated to the nervous system, there are many causes for this, but Dr C W Benson's Celery and Chamomile Pills have in my hands proved a perfect remedy for this condition and these diseases.
Sold by all druggists. Price, 50 cents a box. Depot, 106 North Eutaw St, Baltimore, Md. By mail, two boxes for $1, or six boxes for $2 50, to any address.

POSITIVELY CURES CATARRH COLD IN THE HEAD
HAY FEVER
50 CTS

DIRECTIONS.

For Catarrh, Hay Fever, Cold in the Head, &c., insert with little finger a particle of the Balm into the nostrils, draw strong breaths through the nose. It will be absorbed, cleansing and healing the diseased membrane.

For Deafness,

Apply a particle into the ear.

ELY'S CREAM BALM,

Having gained an enviable local reputation, displacing all other preparations in the vicinity of discovery, is, on its merits alone, recognized as a wonderful remedy. A fair trial will convince the most skeptical of its curative powers. It effectually cleanses the nasal passages of Catarrhal virus, causing healthy secretions, allays inflammation, protects the membranal linings of the head from additional colds, completely heals the sores and restores the sense of taste and smell. Beneficial results are realized by a few applications. A thorough treatment as directed will cure Catarrh. As a household remedy for cold in the head and snuffles it is unequaled. The Balm is easy to use and agreeable. Sold by druggists at 50 cents. On receipt of 50 cents will mail a package. Send for circular with full information.

Terrible Accident

Necessitating a Surgical Operation—Loving Mother Attempts to Take Pair of Shears from her Child.

PARENTS BE CAREFUL.

Domestic accidents are common to women, and some of them are very serious. Mrs. Warner, of South Rondout, Ulster Co., N. Y., some weeks ago attempted to take from her child a pair of shears with which it was playing. A slight struggle ensued, in which the point of the shears entered Mrs. Warner's left eye, entirely destroying the sight. Her family physician did what he could, but intensely painful inflammation arose, which, by sympathy, threatened the loss of the other eye. Total blindness to a woman having the care of a household is a terrible calamity. In this strait Mrs. W— applied to the well known and skillful Surgeon, Dr. David Kennedy, of Rondout, N. Y., who removed the injured eye by a very successful operation, setting aside all danger of further harm to the sight of the other eye. But, owing to pain and mental distress her system needed a tonic and restorative medicine. To do this work the Doctor prescribed Kennedy's Favorite Remedy, which fully sustained his reputation and did a sure foundation of health.

Dr. Kennedy's "Favorite Remedy," removes all impurities from the blood, regulates the Liver and Kidneys, Cures Constipation, and all diseases and weaknesses peculiar to females. It is for sale by all our druggists at ONE DOLLAR a bottle.

LETTER CARRIERS.

All letters are delivered free by carriers when addressed to street and number. People should inform their correspondents of above and have their letters addressed accordingly.

Persons leaving their address at the General Delivery can also have their letters sent, but it is much more convenient to have the street and number on, and they will be delivered earlier than if the carrier is put to the office. Carriers make two deliveries daily, the first trip supplying the extreme of their routes.

Collections made morning and evening in season for important mails.

Holidays the Carriers Window will be open for the delivery of letters from 8½ to 9½ A. M., and from 7½ to 8 P. M. Sundays from 8½ to 9½ A. M.

Any irregularities in the Carriers' department should be reported to the office.

ENVELOPES.

No additional charge will be made for printing the request to return, across the left end upper corner of the envelopes furnished by the Post Office Department, (samples of which may be seen at the Cashier's window) when ordered in lots of not less than 500.

A request for the return of a letter to the writer, if unclaimed within thirty days, or less, written or printed, with the writer's name, post office and State, on the left end of the envelope, on the face side, will be complied with.

The public are earnestly recommended to use Stamped envelopes with printed return request, as the expense is less, and letters thus endorsed, if not delivered to the persons addressed, are returned to the writer free of charge.

First class envelope of above furnished at $2.50 per thousand.

Stamps cut from Stamped Envelopes cannot be used to prepay postage. The use of such Stamps is punishable by a fine of fifty dollars.

Stamped Envelopes, spoiled in directing, are redeemed at the office.
